What A Sneeze Portends.

In almost every land, civilized and uncivilized, the act of sneezing is regarded with more or less superstition. There is an equivalent in nearly all languages for the "God bless you," of the Irish peasant when a person is moved to declare the presence of a decided tickling sensation in his nostrils. To this salutation in France is added sometimes the phrase "and preserve you from the fate of Tycho Brahe," who is believed to have gotten rid of a "death of cold" by a single sneeze—which killed him. In England a regular formula is used: "Once for a wish, twice for a kiss, three times for a letter and four times for a disappointment."

In Italy the salutation is simply "Felicità," or "May you be fortunate." In India it is customary for one to say when one sneezes: "May you live," and the reply runs: "Long life to you." Should a Hindu chance to sneeze while he is going through his peculiar abomination practices in the Ganges, he will make a kind of sign over his face, stop in the ritual and begin all over again.

In ancient times the Romans, holding the idea that sneezing between noon and midnight was a good omen, believed that between midnight and noon it was most unlucky and if they should chance to sneeze while getting up in the morning they would at once get in to bed again. There must be something in this, especially on very cold mornings, but boys home for their holidays are not as a rule superstitious and it might be difficult for them to impress their parents with a saving belief in this happy superstition.

The Germans say "Good health," because they maintain, and not without reason, that sneezing is a warning of approaching catarrh and also marks the moment when a charm, a wish or a suggestion may drive it away. The Persians go further in this idea; they say what practically amounts to "Thank God," because they consider that the sneeze has actually driven away some evil spirit that has attempted to get into a man's body to feed upon his sacred fires.

The people of the Amazulu go even further than this into superstition and arrive at the stage of actual devil worship. No doubt they would style it "angel-worship," but the things to which these so-called angels are supposed to lend themselves, put that high-sounding name quite out of the question. Their uncivilized familiar spirits are said to give some sign when they are near and able to help their votaries.

Andrew Carnegie has written to President Schurman, of Cornell University, offering to pay for the private filter plant contracted for by the college authorities. The offer will probably be accepted.

It is said that neither side wants arbitration in the Wabash railroad fight. Well, that coal strike arbitration has been quite enough to cure anybody of the arbitration habit.

The highest mountain in the moon is at least 35,000 feet; that is 6,000 feet higher than Mt. Everest.

Mr. Carnegie says he likes tall men but men who are short seem to take to Mr. Carnegie.

The stores are all having their Spring openings—and so are the pocketholes. It takes 90 threads of the spider to equal in size one of the silk worm.

The Price of Pleasure.

It is hard for a lovely woman to forego the pleasures of the life which she was created to enjoy and adorn. She may have to be busy all day in office or in store, yet she cannot deny herself the social pleasures which are offered her.

But the fatigue is often too great for her, and she suffers from headache and backache as a consequence of over-exertion.

Women who are tired and worn out will find a perfect tonic and nerve in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures headache, backache and the other aches and pains to which women are subject. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what thanks to give you for your kind favors," writes Miss Mary Ant, of Lota, Thomas Co., Ga. "I suffered so much with great pains in my back and the lower part of my stomach and palpitation of the heart, that at times I could hardly lie down. Could hardly get up in the morning, but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I am like a new woman."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CRAB ORCHARD.

Miss Hettie Harris is quite sick. Grip is visiting many homes here.

Mr. Dan Holman departed this life Sunday last, after weeks of intense suffering from cancer of the stomach. He was anxious and waiting for the summons. All his family were with him in his last hours to minister to his every want and make death seem easier.

His remains were taken to Bee Lick for burial. Our sympathy goes out to those bereaved.

Sunday morning at 7:15, Mrs. Eva Ward passed from this life to her eternal home of rest, to the place that Jesus had gone to prepare for her and where she is now dwelling with all the loved ones gone before and their voices are united in singing the songs of the redeemed in Jesus. Mrs. Ward was one of Crab Orchard's oldest citizens, having moved with her father, Col. Lindsey, from Virginia when she was a child. Here she grew to womanhood and was married to Mr. A. F. Smith, of Virginia, but at that time a citizen of Crab Orchard. He preceded her to the grave 18 years ago. In 1889 she married to Col. R. B. Ward of this place. He also preceded her to the grave, dying in 1891. Mrs. Ward had been a consistent member of the Baptist church since 1854, the year it was dedicated. Her home was a home for the preachers of the gospel so long as she kept house, and until her health failed and years grew on her, she lived up to her Christian duties and privileges. Her funeral was preached at the residence of her sister, Mrs. M. L. Harris, by Rev. R. B. Mahony, assisted by Rev. O. M. Huey, after which the body was buried beside her first husband in the old church yard. We are grieved, and weep not, but should rather rejoice because we know she now mingles with the dear ones she loved so fondly and from whom she had long been separated.

FOR SALE—Registered Berkshire boar. Weighs 300 pounds and is a splendid individual. W. C. Shanks, Stanford.

Smith & Nell bought in Metcalfe county 150 hogs at 5 to 5¢; of C. S. Bell, 175 at 5 to 5¢; of Ab. Hamilton, 16 cattle at 4¢.—Adair News.

The description and pedigree of Dignity Dare, the magnificent stallion belonging to D. S. Carpenter, of Hustonville, will appear next issue. This splendid piece of horse flesh has wintered well and is now in the pink of condition. He will stand at $20 to insure a living colt, which is dirt cheap, considering the kind of colts that he produces. Mr. Carpenter had Dignity Dare worked in harness a short while last fall, when he showed a 2:30 gait. His son, Prospect, owned by Mr. Ed Carpenter, will make a short season. Prospect is the coming three year-old which has attracted so much attention and for which Mr. Carpenter has refused a small fortune.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two-year-old child of P. L. McPherson, 59 N. 10th St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by Craig & Hocker.

Weights of the elevators in the Jefferson county court-house fell, injuring eight persons, two of them probably fatally. For sale by Craig & Hocker.

Bud Gibony and wife, of Liberty, are visiting the family of Rud McCormack,

Doc Drye & Co. have just returned from Pulaski, where they bought a car load of high grade Southern horses.

Grip is with us, and with it, especially this season in our section, are all the disconcerting allies that are the greatest foes of life.

The 15-year-old son of a director of the Deutsche Bank at Berlin died from the effects of a whipping inflicted by his tutor.

Died on Saturday night, Mrs. J. Henry Nall, aged 54. The period of illness was brief and death was very sudden; in a measure unexpected and was due to heart failure, superinduced by grip.

She leaves a sister and two brothers, Evan and Joe Boling, all residents of Boyle, where she was raised, besides a husband and one daughter, the wife of Wm. Moran, together with many friends to mourn her untimely death.

She was a consistent member of the Christian church and surely "won a battle without material weapons."

MILLER—Mrs. Sallie Miller, aged 69, died at the home of her brother, Judge J. M. Phillips, in Kansas City, Saturday and was buried there. Mrs. Miller left Stanford the middle of November and was then in a very feeble condition, many thinking she could not stand the long trip. She was a very accomplished good woman and her many friends here and elsewhere sorrow in her taking away.

DANVILLE correspondents are working over-time in their efforts to make the outside world think that Lincoln county is full of small-pox. There are only three cases in the county and they are in the Mt. Salem section, 17 miles from Stanford, and every precaution is being used to prevent a spread of it. By the way we have seen nothing in the Danville or other papers about a Central University student having a well-developed case of the loathsome disease.

AFTER months of suffering, good old Mrs. W. J. Carson passed into the great beyond Tuesday and she was buried in the Hustonville cemetery Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends. A cancer of the face was her trouble and the suffering she endured was great indeed. Being a model Christian woman, however, she murmured not but bore it all, believing it was for the best. Two children survive Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Dayton and Mr. J. K. Carson.

With the maximum temperature 75 and the average 23 above normal, yesterday was a record breaker. It also brought out the fellow who asks: "Is it warm enough for you?" which is the worst feature of the case.

MRS. L. S. ADAMS.

OF Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have no disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Dr. Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.

For address, see page 10, giving name of the Ladies' Advisory Board, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

The moving fever is still raging. Wm. Anderson is moving them "gwine and comin". Garland Adams moved two miles below Lancaster last week and moved back again this week. He says he would rather milk "old" man Coleman's cows than do any work he ever did.

Even the most enthusiastic college athlete has never claimed literary merit for the ordinary college yell, but the following, used by the Syracuse Medical College, strikes us as a trifle cold-blooded:

"Well man, sick man, dead man—stiff—dig 'em up, cut 'em up, what's the dif? Humorous, tumorous, blood and gore, Syracuse medicoes, 1904."

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. Watkins, of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough had set in besides. Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for cough, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured By One Bottle Of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times suffer from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip bid me adieu." For sale by Craig & Hocker.
